Valentine Picture Bingo

A grown-up pulls a calling card and holds it up. If you have that picture, cover it. Three in a row (across, down or corner to corner) wins! The heart in the middle is free.

Calling cards: cut them apart and put them in a bag.

Cover each picture with a button, a cereal piece or a crayon mark.

For grown-ups: why it works. Bingo is turn-taking, careful looking and matching all in one game, and nobody needs to read. Ask your child to name each picture as it is called, or say its first sound ("r-r-rose!") for sneaky phonics practice. Print the page twice for four players.
